

– Glasgow-based financial advisor Dan Foutch has been named to the national Top 1,000 Advisors list published annually by Barron’s magazine. Additionally, Foutch was identified as the list’s Number Five advisor in Kentucky.

“It’s an honor to be named to this elite group of financial professionals,” Foutch said. “Our team works hard to provide clients sound financial advice and leadership while maintaining a commitment to financial integrity and value.”

To make the list, advisors must lead in assets under management in their home state and have strong investment performance results. They also generate significant revenue for their firms, run high quality practices and have stellar regulatory records. Foutch has over 30 years of private wealth management experience. He began his career in 1982 as a Limited Partner with Edward Jones, opening the firm’s first branch in Glasgow. In 1990, he joined Hilliard Lyons and established three branch offices.
