

WATCH FOR ROAD WORK BY KCTC IN ALLEN COUNTY LATER THIS WEEK

Wednesday, 24 July 2013 07:49

Beginning later this week and continuing through next week, KYTC crews will be adding flashing yellow arrows to signal displays in Allen County at existing signalized locations. Motorist should anticipate slight delays at intersections where this work is to be performed.

Several traffic signals across the district have already had the flashing yellow arrows added - predominately those in Warren and Barren Counties.

The new signal head includes a flashing yellow arrow, which indicates that motorists are allowed to proceed with caution but must yield to oncoming traffic.
