

MAMMOTH CAVE GIVING FREE MAMMOTH PASSAGE TOURS TODAY

Monday, 20 January 2014 05:54

On January 20, in honor of Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Mammoth Cave National Park will provide free guided Mammoth Passage tours. Each tour is limited to 40 people; visitors must pick up their free tickets at the visitor center prior to departure times. Mammoth Passage tours will depart from the visitor center at 10:00, 11:00, 1:00, 2:30, and 3:00.

“You are invited to come out and enjoy the day,” said Superintendent Sarah Craighead. “We offer free Mammoth Passage tours to say thank you to our friends and neighbors, and as a way to introduce newcomers to the world’s longest cave. Please join us!”

Mammoth Passage is a $\frac{3}{4}$ -mile, $1\frac{1}{4}$ hour cave tour, and requires a walk down and up the hill below the visitor center, as well as 68 steps at the Historic Entrance. For more information contact Mammoth Cave National Park at 270-758-2166.
