

It seems severe storm season is here early this year. Some storms hit so fast that it's difficult to tell whether it was a tornado or straight line winds. WCLU Local news asked the National Weather Service's Joe Sullivan how he determines how to label the event after it happens

{audio}http://wcluradio.com/newscuts/0228sullivan.mp3{/audio}