

Delsie D. (Gonterman) Taylor, age 100, of Cave City died on September 22, 2013 at Glasgow Heath and Rehabilitation Center. She was the daughter of the late Walter and Amanda Meredith Gonterman. She was a member of Cherry Springs Missionary Baptist Church. She was saved by the grace of God as a teenager at a Stockholm Church Brush Harbor Revival after which she ran the entire four miles home to tell her parents.

She was preceded in death by her husband of fifty-two years, Loyd Taylor, her only daughter, Roberta Taylor, her sisters Elisa Logsdon and Mertle McCubbins, her brothers Grover Gonterman, Gerstle Gonterman and Paul Gonterman.

Survivors include a sister, Lillian Meridith, 98, of Park City, a grandson, James (Eddie) Farris, his wife, Kelly and their two daughters, Alicia and Beverly all of Palmer, Massachusetts and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services with Randall Kessinger officiating will be at 11 AM Sunday, September 29th at Cherry Springs Missionary Baptist Church with burial in the church cemetery. Visitation at the Bob Hunt Funeral Chapel, Cave City, will be Saturday, September 28th from 3 to 8 PM. The body will lie in state at the church after 9 AM Sunday until time of service.