Coasting Bicyclist. Glasgow's latest bicyclist is none other than County Judge Carroll M. Redford, who creates quite a stir on North Jacksonway when he coasts in every morning with a big "two-fer" angling from his mouth and another one safely ensconced in his shirt pocket. The Judge is able to negotiate the trip from home with little energy, having to pedal a short distance, then coasting nearly to the stop light. He negotiates the remaining distance afoot, and we are advised that the wheel is motored home in the afternoon.

A Letter from Australia. Following are excerpts from a letter written by John R. Miller of Temple Hill, to our City Policemen Jake Eatmon and Luther Lowe. "Dear Jake and Luther: How are you? I am a long ways from home, in Australia. Have been here for some time and am having a good time. We had a swell trip over. Our boat was large and was good riding. Towns here are all blacked out, but we don't mind that. If these Japs get after me, you can hang out the front doors of Kentucky because I am really going to make tracks back to the States. It will be a long swim, but I can make it.” Signed Pvt. John R. Miller, Battery A, 19720 Coast Artillery.
