

JANUARY 2, 1954 - State Officials Taken on Tour of T.B. Hospital. Representatives and State Senators from several counties in Southcentral Kentucky toured the District 6 State Tuberculosis Hospital yesterday in order to familiarize themselves with the work being carried on here in Kentucky's effort to eradicate T.B. Also attending were four members of the original State Commission which set up five new hospitals in Kentucky: Dr. C.C. Howard, Glasgow; Cass Walden, Edmonton; William G. Biggers, Prestonsburg; and Mrs. Bert R. Smith, Bowling Green.

JANUARY 4, 1954 - Jesse Edmunds Compiled Good Record As Sheriff. In bowing out as sheriff of Barren County, Jesse Edmunds carries with him the respect and confidence of the people he served. Day or night, his office has responded to calls anywhere in the county. The hundreds of rides his office has made have resulted in holding the whiskey trade to a minimum in this county; and, with the cooperation of the State Highway Department and Federal Agencies of law, he has aided materially in crime control. The entire county has consistently enjoyed the advantages that come to a community where law enforcement is upheld and maintained by an honest devotion to duty and an unflagging willingness to serve.

Baby Girl First Arrival of Year. The first baby born in Barren County in 1954 made its arrival at 9:13 Saturday night at the Community Hospital. The baby, a six pound 11 ounce girl, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Willie Syree of McKenna Street in Glasgow. She has been named Peggy Jean.

Mrs. Randolph Wilson became the first woman ever to represent Barren County in the Kentucky House of Representatives; she will be one of the two women in the 1954 legislature; Mrs. Thelma Stovall of Louisville is the other one. Mrs. Wilson's main interests include a better educational program, especially on the elementary level, and better legislation for agriculture. This is the first political office for the 48-year-old although she has been actively engaged in various community activities.

JANUARY 11, 1954 - All main highways in Barren County were open to traffic today following the heaviest snow of the winter. At least four accidents were reported over the weekend, with no serious injuries. Meanwhile, weather forecasters promised no immediate relief, with possibly more snow and temperatures dipping to about ten degrees tonight. Probably some Barren Countians celebrated the return of ice and snow, since they are the county school students who were given a holiday because of the bad weather.

JANUARY 12, 1954 - In Washington, D.C. yesterday, the House Interior Sub-Committee approved a bill authorizing the purchase of the Crystal and Great Onyx Caves in Kentucky's Mammoth Cave National Park. This measure, authorizing the use of national park receipts for the transaction, was passed by the Senate last August. The State of Kentucky will buy the caves, supposedly with a bond issue, and will allow the Federal Government to acquire them from net receipts. Estimated cost of the two caves is $350,000.

JANUARY 13, 1954 – Funeral services for Wayne E. Tyree, 59, will be conducted Friday morning at the Crow Funeral Home. Mr. Tyree, who had been an instructor in band music here since 1930, died Monday night after suffering a heart attack. He was a veteran of World War II, was formerly a director of the 123rd Cavalry Band, and was teaching band in five schools in the area at the time of his death. He was also Commander of the Glasgow Chapter, DAV.

Fire Routs Farm Family Near Austin. A farm family near Austin was forced out into the snow and icy temperature, barefoot and in their night clothes, early yesterday morning when fire swept through their home. Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Lewis and their three children were awakened when the ceiling of the living room in their two-story house collapsed. They barely had time to escape. The house burned to the ground. Nothing was saved. The Lewis family was taken to the house of a neighbor who had driven to the scene immediately after seeing the fire, which was believed to have started in the roof near the chimney. Part of the loss was covered by insurance.

Leight Wilson and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, both of Cave City, were reported in fair condition today following a head-on collision with another car, driven by Beckham Martin of Bowling Green, last night on Highway 70 near Cave City. Martin is also in the hospital suffering minor injuries. Meanwhile, Kentucky Highway Department officials said that all paved roads in the county were open to traffic, despite rain and some snow. The Department feared heavy rains today might begin to freeze, making it dangerous to drive.

Coroner Can't Be Paid A Salary by Fiscal Court. The Barren County coroner may not be paid a salary, but must depend on a fee per case, according to a ruling by the Kentucky Attorney General's office. The coroner, John Dearing, had asked the first session of the new Fiscal Court to pay him by an established salary rather than on a fee basis, but no precedent has been enacted in Kentucky setting forth a means whereby a salary could be paid. The principal duty of a coroner is to hold inquests in cases involving death where foul play is suspected.

Shower Planned for Austin Family. Residents of the Austin community, led by the Homemakers Club there, are planning a shower for the Corbin Lewis family, whose home was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and their three children, whose ages range from two to five, were not able to save anything at all from their home. Anyone wishing to help the family should plan to attend the shower Friday night at 7:00 p.m. at the Austin-Tracy Elementary School.

Ed Diddle draped a brilliant red towel over his shoulders and proclaimed a new goal for his Western Kentucky Hilltoppers. They had just presented him with his 600th basketball victory, the most ever won by a coach at one school. "Our objective," he said "is to win 601." Diddle, whose red towel is his trademark, never looks very far into the future; he points to the next game. He agreed that it would be nice to stretch the string to 700, or even 1000, but it would not be smart to count so far up the calendar.
