OCTOBER 4 – OCTOBER 8

MONDAY: Initial reception of WSM-TV, Nashville, Tenn., which began telecasts Saturday, proved “sketchy” in the Glasgow area although better reception from the station is expected later.

One local radio and television man said he monitored the Nashville station on the first telecasts but reception was spotty. However, within the next few days the station plans to increase wattage and use a higher antenna, both of which are expected to produce more satisfactory results in the local area.

WSM's television experts have indicated that telecasts in the Glasgow area should be picked up readily when the station gets operations well underway. The station has a primary range of 45 miles but proper reception is expected for 80 miles with a good antenna. Nashville is 68 airline miles away.

WAVE-TV in Louisville continues to come in good locally although reception of WHAS-TV is variable. Both WSM on channel 4 and WAVE on channel 5 can be received on the very same antenna.

While the number of television sets in this section continues to be limited, the total is increasing steadily. It is thought that about 12 to 15 sets are operating here.

Take off two pounds allowance for Joe's scales and one pound allowance for Dan Taylor's weighing. (They're both fishermen). The necessary deductions leave the Editor with a prize 5 pound sweet potato. That's heaps of trimmin' for fat o'possum.

WEDNESDAY: Mayor Leslie Moran of Moran Motors lost an automobile recently but the missing car was never more than a block from the garage. It was reported to the ploc as stolen. The police were the last ones to move the car but they didn't know it.

All the confusion came about when an employ drove the car to Ideal Chevrolet a block distant for repair parts. However he walked back with the parts leaving the car parked by the side of Ideal. After being left for several days on a parking meter the cops pulled what they considered an abandoned car into Ideal for storage. Mayor Moran reported the car as stolen. Several days later the absent minded employee had to return to the Ideal Garage for repair parts again. He recognized the lost car and the mystery was solved. The employee, however, didn't receive any congratulations for his detective work.
