H. W. Jolly's Store Robbed Saturday Night. Some one or more pried the side door of H.W. Jolly and Son's store open Saturday night, some time between 10 o'clock and daylight, and stole quite a number of overcoats and suits. It is hard to check up, but Mr. Jolly estimates that they must have taken 15 or 20 suits, cheap and good as they came to them. They also took several of the best overcoats in the store, perhaps 10 or 12. Mr. Jolly guesses the loss amounted to $400 to $500. And this is the whole story, except that as we go to press, Mr. Jolly is without a clue, so far as we have heard.

Nineteen thirty is generally regarded as a poor business year, but there are two sides to this, so far as Glasgow is concerned. For instance, the receipts of the Glasgow Post Office were the largest in history in 1930 and are gaining rapidly. The four National Banks in Glasgow are prospering. The Glasgow Overall factory employed 75 hands in 1929, and 150 in 1930; out of 94 overall and pant factories in the South, only two ran continuously, and one of these was the Glasgow Overall Factory. The population of Glasgow was close to doubled from 1920 to 1930. Mr. W. D. Dickinson erected a large two-story brick business house, at a cost of $30,000 or more at the corner of Race and Wayne, and on Race, the Christian church erected a three-story brick and concrete educational building.

Mr. A. J. Johnson and family have returned from Indianapolis, where they spent the last four years, and will again make their home on their farm near Beckton. Mr. Johnson says there are thousands of men out of work in the Hoosier state, unable to get away, and are being fed by charity. A little farm which is paid for, a few cows and a lot of chickens and a few pigs, are mighty hard to beat. Butter, eggs, and truck gardening is a mighty sure way to make a living – provided you are willing to work.

Porter, president of the Hospital was also present, along with Board of Trustees members Mr. E. L. Kerley, Mr. J. H. Mitchell. and Mr. George J. Ellis. The Medical staff was represented by Dr. J. W. Acton and Dr. Kenneth Jones, Resident Physician. Those of the patients able to attend were present with the Superintendent and members of the Hospital personnel. Music was rendered by Mrs. Boles and the Choir of the Baptist Church. The writer feels that these hospital services, earnestly planned for the comfort of the sick within its walls, will also become a source of spiritual help and inspiration to the community at large.

With the help of a "Jimmy" some one or more pried nine locks and not only entered the Cavalry Armory and various rooms in it, but stole 72 pistols valued at about $25 each. Just what the scoundrels wanted with them has not been revealed, as every pistol was marked and numbered, and if they are not caught, we will be surprised. A fingerprint expert came down from Louisville the next day and took the fingerprints of every member of the Cavalry troop, and secured every fingerprint obtainable around the Armory. So far as we are informed there is no clue to the guilty parties, but...
